2006 Chevy 2500 HD

40,000 original miles. Not drivable. Without realizing how deadly brine was, 10 years ago I followed a brine truck that was spraying the road for ¼ of a mile or so. As I had a Tall cap on the bed that was too high for a regular car wash, I only washed it in 'quarter' car washes. By the time I noticed the rust damage it was too late to save it. It has never stopped rotting the frame. I have used it to plow the building area only. I have replaced brake lines among a lot of things. The truck is only good for parts. It actually has the original tires on it. The body was not affected See for yourself.
